

Dimitri X. van Hoven, Senior System Engineer at Clingendael Instituut

“Distributing software is as easy as child's play with Easy Software Deployment, and that is why we use it so often.”

When our organisation started using an online financial package, as a system administrator I got the request to install a so-called ‘connector’ on all of our clients.

It is a well-known fact in IT that a system administrator likes to get a job done as quickly as possible, so we were looking for a package that could easily deploy the software we needed.

This was all the more important as the connector required regular updates. Disabling our clients all at once while we rolled out updates was not an option.

After a conducting a quick Google search the results returned with Easy Software Deployment.

So how did things turn out?

These guys were literally located just a few blocks away from the office.

We quickly made an appointment for a demo, and in no time we were able to get our hands on the software.

Because we were so enthusiastic about the many flexible options and surprised by the reasonable pricing, we quickly decided to purchase Easy Software Deployment. This is now more than three years ago.

Since then, we have not only rolled out the connector with Easy Software Deployment but other applications such as Outlook add-ins, a virus scanner, patches, etc.

Distributing software is as easy as child's play with Easy Software Deployment, and that is why we use it so often.

Provolve's software support team is also worth mentioning due to their high level of skill and expertise.

www.easysoftwaredeployment.nl